An English paper says Tom

FORTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The public administrator for Waukesha county has now in his possession securities aggregating about $11,000, belonging to the estate of Matthias Rosner, who died recently at the County Home. He had been here for nearly five months, while being abundantly able to have provided for himself. He was committed to the County Home in December from the town of Brookfield, and his death took place May 28. He had been employed as a helper in the town for 18 months by Theodore Reusch, an Elm Grove hotel and saloon keeper. Mr.

immense cigars, which have the appearance of a large bowsprit sticking out of his face.

Reusch states that he was given a package by the deceased several months ago, which was placed in Mr. Reusch's safety deposit box in the West Side Savings bank, Milwaukee, and was to have become his property after Rosner's death. The box was examined and found to contain two certificates of deposit, one on the First National bank of Milwaukee and a note for $100. The package also contained a receipt for five cents worth of ice cream and one for ten cents worth of bread. Deceased was about 75 years of age, and so far as was learned he had no relatives in America.
